

SPRING 2026 EDITION

WHAT'S NEW

As we continue refreshing our brand and offering, our aim is simple: to give you cleaner choices, stronger narratives and an easier path from concept to install.

This spring's additions are deliberate to expand your design ability while keeping decisions intuitive. You'll see new door options that pair naturally with our accent reeded door, making it effortless to build a consistent story across elevations. At the same time, we've refined a favorite profile: a smaller rail that spotlights a deep bevel, giving a sharper, modern edge inside a classic silhouette—familiar enough to win trust, distinct enough to win the job. And to carry that furniture grade feel through everyday touch points- a new sculpted drawer front, an often overlooked element, to add a subtle statement.

Color continues to be the quickest way to set tone and mood, so we're leaning into the palettes you've been asking for: more stains and Tinted Varnishes with blue and green undertones. To help you finish the room with confidence, we're offering more of those details that matter—new mesh inserts for layered transparency, more Stanisci hoods for a tailored focal point and reeded panels to carry the textural narrative across elevations—so the whole kitchen reads as one, not a collection of parts.

We also heard the request for a turnkey way to deliver the pantry look homeowners love—without building it from a stack of modifications. Our new larder cabinets make that “fan favorite” effortless to add to your design, bringing organized storage and personality.

Just as important, we're streamlining the back end—retiring outdated SKUs to reduce clutter and restructuring the spec book for a more user-friendly experience. Expect clearer line art, easy-to-read comparison charts, more clickable cross-links and integrated pricing—so you spend less time flipping pages and more time designing.

Everything in this launch is designed to build on the items introduced this past fall, offering options that are cohesive, configurable and crafted—so your packages come together faster, your timelines hold and your installations deliver the kind of everyday luxury customers feel the moment they walk in.

Thank you for going on this journey with us,
